CHAPTER I.

Nearly the entire boat load of passengers was jammed along the forward gates, ready to spring out upon the Jersey wharf, restive to reach the waiting trains, but quite apart from all these whose faces were set westward three people—a girl, a man nearing forty and a slim lad—lingered on the after deck as though loath to take their leave of the imperial city.

The resemblance of the monstrous live of humankind to a height of land was so marked, so singular, that the girl remarked upon it, and the boy, a pale lad of seventeen, cried out in shrill

“Yes; but think of the real mountains we’re going to climb!”

The girl did not speak for a moment, and when she did her voice was distinctly sorrowful. “I feel as though I were saying goodbye to everything worth while.”

“Including me?” asked her escort. She did not smile, but her accent was kindly as she answered, “Yes, Wayne, including you.”

“Oh, sis, you make me tired!” cried the boy. “Just as if going west were bidding goodbye to everything!” He beat his thin chest. “I’m just beginning to live now. I’m glad to get away from the stuffy old town. I want to see something besides Fifth avenue and Central park.”

Wayne Peabody laughed good naturedly down at the boy. “You wouldn’t care if civilization did stop at the west bank of the Hudson river, would you?” “I should say not. I’m tired of it all—the noise and the pavements and the heat and the wetness. I want to get out where the wolves and the cranes and the cowboys are; I want to hit the trail and find where father’s camps were.”

The girl spoke musingly. “It’s singular, but I have a premonition of some dark fate—some vague sorrow. I never felt so before—not even on my trip to Egypt. If I don’t come back I want you to note that I was forewarned. Let’s go forward.”

Peabody remarked in a low voice: “Louis is transformed already. It will do him all kinds of good to go west.” “I hope so,” she replied rather drearily, “but he seems unwholesomely excited at the present moment.”

“He’ll get over that.”

“I fear he will be disappointed. Father’s trip was made nearly twenty-five years ago when it was a really wonderful land.”

“He is young. He will reimagine it.” The boy stood like some beautiful animal poised for a spring as the ferry shouldered its clumsy way into the Jersey dock. He was of less bulk than his strong, composed, modish sister, and his face was as dark, as mobile and as eager as hers was fair and impassive. Peabody experienced once again a twinge of keen regret that Ann had not some of her brother’s radiant enthusiasm.

Surrounded by porters and wearing an air of command, Louis led the way to the sleeping car, impatient of his sister’s deliberation. On one hip he carried a pair of large field glasses and over the other a costly camera, while half concealed cases of pencils and pads of drawing paper bulged from his pockets announced his artistic intention.

As the time for the train to start drew near Peabody strove to win some softer word from Ann, but she was her training and her temperament were alike opposed to easy expression. When he tried to take her hand a second time with eyes that entreated she recoiled.

“No, no! You have no right to expect that!”

He was no longer a boy, and he was bred to self control; therefore, though his voice trembled a little, he spoke quickly: “Goodbye, Ann. Write every day, won’t you?”

In a voice which chilled him she replied: “Every day is pretty often, but you will hear from me. Go and see mother, please. She will not say so, but she will be glad to have you come.”

“Depend upon me,” he said, lifting his hat. His bearded face betrayed no emotion, but his eyes were hot with pain and grief.

The girl on her part felt a sudden twinge of remorse as she left him there, a fine, strong, manly suitor, who uttered no complaint, though she wounded him. The twitching of his lips troubled her, but she did not relent. In her heart she said: “I can’t help it. It isn’t in me. He shouldn’t ask it.”

Louis threw himself flat on the couch in their stateroom and said boyishly: “Geel! We’re off at last. Now let her whiz. This old train can’t go fast enough for me.”

Looking down at him at that moment, Ann’s bosom swelled with an emotion almost maternal. “How thin he is,” she thought, as her eyes took in his slight body. “I’ll go. I’ll do anything for him, if only he can grow strong and well.”

She loved that slender lad and assumed for him a greater weight of care and hope and fear than for any other human being. He was so like his father.

“Hello, Don!” shouted Louis.

ther—the soul restless as flame, the slender body racked, worn with endless enthusiasms, the burning, mercurial eyes and the delicate mouth. All these she had known and valued in her father, and when the doctor seriously advised the Rocky mountains she readily gave up her own plans, and here and now she sat, rushing toward the west to a town repulsive to her, a place of emptiness and weariness, a social desert, where no one lived but her cousins, the Barnetts, to whose hospitable door they were bound as voyagers on a wide sea to a snug harbor. Without that home as a point of arrival Ann Rupert would have been in such uncertainty of mind as besets a sailor on a chartless sea.

She was making this abortive trip in order that her brother might thrive in his physical well being as well as in his art. He had recently determined on being an illustrator of wild animal books. “I’m going to study them at first hand,” he repeated often, “and way Melborn Foster has done. And, besides, I want to illustrate father’s journal.” This journal, the record of a trip into the west made by Philip Rupert before his marriage, had come to be the most powerful influence in the lad’s life. It was a worn little red book in which the father had written the daily happenings and impressions of his trip, and its discovery by Louis in a box of old papers had quite transformed his life. It had made him an American, filling him with a longing for the “Hesperian mountains,” as the father called the romantic land he had seen but once, but whose splendor lived with him throughout the remainder of his short life.

As they sat at the table in the dining car Ann again listened indulgently to her brother’s plans, and permitted him to order the dinner and assume all the manners of a grown man, honestly trying to conceal her own weariness of spirit, sincerely regretful of her bitter words, the sister.

Louis was not weary. He eyed every man who came in, avid to discover some western trait, some outward sign of inward difference between himself and his companions, but could not. They were all quite commonplace business men, well dressed, close clipped and urbane of manner. Some of them were evidently salesmen going over to Philadelphia or out to Chicago, and they all ate long and with every evidence of enjoyment. Some of the women were young and pretty—students returning to the west for their summer vacations.

Once more in the privacy of her stateroom and looking out at the landscape reeling past, Ann sank back in her seat wholly dismayed. “What in the world can I do out there?” she asked herself most poignantly. “Of course they don’t play golf or tennis, and I can’t ride, and, besides, whom could I play with? Jeannette is not a bit athletic.” And again the small round of her interests—she had no gayeties—was borne in upon her, “I shall die of inactivity.”

Louis excused himself quite formally and went back into the smoking compartment to sit with the men, while Ann, left alone, gave herself up to a close, half ironic study of the absurdity of her position. With a dozen most desirable invitations to distinguished London homes, with everything before her that a girl of her age and tastes could desire, she had turned away to face the crude conditions of a western state in a warm glow of sisterly affection.

She took up the little red book, in which she had taken only a languid interest before, and, turning the leaves at random, fell upon bits of description that stirred her unaccountably. Now that she was about to enter this land of her father’s delight, the words took on passion and power.

They arrived in Chicago behind their schedule time and had but a few minutes in which to make their transfer, and so they saw little of the great central metropolis. To them it was only a gloomy, clangorous shed fitted with long strings of railway coaches all marked with strange names—names which meant little to her, but which excited Louis almost to tears. “See,” he cried, “there is a car from Oregon and one from Wyoming.” The people who filled the coaches were not markedly different at first glance from those she had been traveling with, but Louis, more keenly discerning, began to distinguish types at once, and when one or two big men came in wearing wide hats and chin beards he trembled with joy. “There are some gentlemen—I’m sure of it,” he whispered hoarsely.

Louis did not return to the Pullman till after the train had left the city, and she was just beginning to wonder there at when he came in with eyes ablaze. “I’ve struck ‘em at last!” he fairly shouted in her ear. “They’re all up in the reclining chairs, chin beards, spitters and all. I’m just crazy to sketch two or three of them. It doesn’t pay to ride in a stateroom if you want to see types,” he added in conclusive discontent.

As that day and the next wore on the boy began to burn with a new phase of his fever. He commenced to count the hours till he might be able to discern Mogalyn, the great peak of the Rampart range, whose fame is worldwide. Ann experienced her first decided flush of interest as the swinging, reeling rush of the train brought the great peak into view, a dim, blue dome against the western sky.

At last, just as the red was paling out of the sky, the train swung to the left on its southerly course, and the whole Rampart range began to stretch and wind away to northward and southward, while between the plain and the foothills rolled a tawny sea of sod, deeply marked with ravines and dotted with pine clad buttes. The range grew dimmer as they gazed, and at last even Louis was content to sink back in his seat and wait.

“It isn’t a bit as I expected it to be,” he said, “but it is glorious. That purple green was wonderful. I’m going to try to get that some time. It isn’t as precipitous as the Alps, but it’s superb just the same, and just think how much wilder it was when father came here!” “I’m glad you were not disappointed, boy,” she replied, laying her hand on his shoulder and caressing his cheek, “but you need rest. You’re seeing too much.”

The train was now winding down toward Valley Springs, and only the splendid sky line of the range could be distinguished as the lights of the town began to sparkle out of the obscure murk.

The porter, with brush in hand, came down the aisle. “This is Valley Springs, miss.”

“Hello, Don!” shouted Louis.

“Hello, laddie! How do you do, Ann?” replied Barnett, and as Ann and her cousin embraced the big man caught Louis by the hand. “How’s your muscle, my boy? Got all your traps? Here, Tom!” he called to a colored footman, “look out for these things.”

REPRISALS EXPECTED

Natives of Nanchang Dread the Arrival of Gunboats.

Shanghai, March 1.—The Nanchang magistrate the injury to whom was the reputed immediate cause of the attack by natives on Catholic and Protestant missionaries a few days ago, is still alive, though his wounds are dangerous.

The native population of Nanchang is fleeing, dreading the arrival of armed forces from European and American gunboats. There have been many arrests. The officials of Nanchang are urgently asking the viceroy of the province of Kiangsi to come personally to Nanchang.

UP TO UNCLE SAM

Revised San Domingan Treaty Increases Our Power In Island.

STRICT PARTY MEASURE

All the Republicans on the Committee Favor the Treaty, the Democrats Being as Solidly Against It.

Power Given to the United States to Take Such Action as It May Deem Proper.

Washington, March 1.—The treaty between the United States and the Dominican republic, under which the former undertakes to collect and disburse the customs revenues of the latter, was reported to the senate in executive session by Senator Lodge by authority of the committee on foreign relations. The committee reached its agreement, all of the Republicans voting for the favorable report and the Democrats voting against it.

A number of very important amendments to the treaty were made by the committee. Article 7 was entirely rewritten, and as reported is materially shortened. It reads as follows:

“The United States, while this treaty is being executed, may take such steps as it may deem proper to preserve order and facilitate the accomplishment of the purposes hereof.”

For more than a year this article has been the subject of disputes in the committee. Republicans and Democrats were opposed to it, but on very different grounds. The latter by cautious action having determined to oppose the treaty in its entirety, left the Republicans free to agree upon some amendment satisfactory to the latter. Wherefore in re-writing the amendment the committee eliminated the authority given to the Dominican republic to demand and receive assistance from this government. The article now provides that the United States may grant upon its own initiative such relief as it desires. Further amendment of this article is contemplated and may be drafted by Senator Spooner.

Under the agreement in the committee such an amendment would be accepted by the members voting for the favorable report, and when submitted to the senate immediately become a part of the treaty as reported by the committee. It is said it will follow lines similar to an amendment proposed by Secretary Root and will authorize the United States to land troops for the protection of Americans engaged in the collection of customs. It is based on the theory that a provision of this character would carry the authority to protect the customs houses themselves, without a specific agreement to that effect.

There were added to the treaty two new sections which are intended to more definitely protect the United States in all monetary dealings with the creditors of the Dominican republic. Another amendment gives to the United States instead of to the Dominican republic the right to determine in what manner the debts of the republic shall be paid. A further amendment provides the following: “The customs receipts or other moneys which shall come into and be in the custody of the agents of the United States, acting in Santo Domingo and the provisions hereof, shall not be subject to the jurisdiction or processes of the courts of Santo Domingo, nor shall the agents of the United States discharging functions under this treaty be subject to the criminal jurisdiction or processes of the courts of Santo Domingo except with the consent of the president of the United States.”

While the treaty was given a place on the senate executive calendar, it will not be called up until after the railroad rate bill has been disposed of, and even then it may go over for some time. Republican senators are not inclined to push it to a vote so long as they are uncertain of the necessary two-thirds required to ratify it. The action of the Democrats at their recent caucus has made it very doubtful whether the treaty could be ratified this session. Briefly, the treaty provides for the adjustment of the claims against the Dominican republic under the supervision of the United States. This government is to take charge of the customs house and collect the revenues, pay 45 per cent to the Dominican republic and withhold 55, the latter amount to be used to liquidate the debts of the republic.

Indians Get Another Chance. Washington, March 1.—The senate passed a resolution providing that the tribal existence and government of the Choctaw, Chickasaw, Cherokee, Creek and Seminole tribes or nations of Indians in Indian Territory be continued in full force and effect for all purposes until the fourth day of March, 1907, unless sooner provided by law. The remainder of the session was devoted to the passage of private pension bills. The house continued its discussion of the army appropriation bill.

Wouldn't Pay Tax.

Havana, March 1.—The American imprisoned on the Isle of Pines is A. W. Moerke, postmaster of Columbia, Isle of Pines. He was taken into custody because he refused to pay the storekeeper's tax on the ground that the Isle of Pines is not under Cuba's jurisdiction.

CONTRADICTORY EVIDENCE

Another Variance Noted in Testimony In Packers' Case.

Chicago, March 1.—E. D. Durand, special agent for the government, was on the stand all day yesterday in the hearing of the packers' pleas for immunity, and is continuing his evidence today. He contradicted the evidence given by witnesses for the packers in several instances, the most notable being where he flatly denied the statement made by Arthur Meeker, general superintendent for Armour & Co., while on the stand. Mr. Meeker declared while a witness that he had answered all questions put to him by Mr. Durand, and Mr. Durand said that he had heard Mr. Meeker testify to that effect, and then declared that Mr. Meeker had not answered all the questions that had been asked of him.

Mr. Durand also said that he asked A. H. Veeder, general counsel for Swift & Co., and one of the men under indictment in the present case, to give evidence during the investigation by Commissioner Garfield under oath and that Mr. Veeder replied that he would do nothing of the kind, for the reason that it might destroy the chance of immunity for the packers.

Late in the day Judge Humphrey, who had declared soon after court opened that he could not admit as evidence letters that passed between Mr. Durand and Commissioner Garfield during the investigation, altered his decision and admitted the letters.

Judge Humphrey urged the attorneys to livelier efforts in the conduct of the case and expressed the hope that “this case will not last until eternity.”

Remanded for Sentence.

New York, March 1.—The plea of guilty in the Norfolk & Western railway $4,500,000 bond forgery case was entered before Recorder Goff, following two indictments by the grand jury, charging Samuel J. Humphries of Brooklyn and Douglas E. Smith of Manhattan with forgery in the first degree. They were arraigned together with Charles Augustus Seton and Charles T. C. P. Colney, both of whom had been previously indicted on the same charge. All the defendants except Colney pleaded guilty and were remanded one month for sentence.

Accident to Honeymooners.

Berlin, March 1.—There is very slight basis in fact for the reports cable to America that Prince Eitel Friedrich and his bride, Princess Sophie, had been injured in an automobile accident. The couple entered an autocar Tuesday night at a station near the Hubertusstuck hunting lodge, thirty miles north of Berlin, where they are spending their honeymoon. A team of horses took fright and ran away, dashing the wagon against the autocar and breaking a window. No one in the auto was bruised.

TERSE TELEGRAMS

A direct steamship service between Libau and New York will be inaugurated.

Fire destroyed the storehouse of Granite Cotton mill No. 2 at Fall River, Mass. The loss is $125,000.

The latest official reports from Japan show that thousands of men, women and children are entirely destitute.

The estimated amount necessary for pay of rural letter carriers for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1907, is $22,713,822.

The imperial Chinese commissioners en route to Europe to study economic and trade conditions have reached Seattle.

Increasing stocks of wheat and flour at Northwestern grain centers had a weakening influence on the Chicago wheat market.

Nearly 5,000 delegates have gathered in Nashville for the fifth international convention of the student volunteer movement.

Fire destroyed two large warehouses of the L. M. Allemen Hardware company at Gettysburg, Pa. The loss is estimated at $90,000.

The volcano on the Island of Savali, in German Samoa, is still active. The inhabitants of the district of Matautu have abandoned their homes.

Major Cassius E. Gillette has resigned from the United States army and has been sworn in as the chief of the bureau of filtration at Philadelphia.

In the matter of rural carriers' pay it is authoritatively stated that there is no disposition on the part of the post-office department to cut existing rates.

A passenger train on the Coal and Coke railroad was derailed a mile east of Elkhurst, W. Va., and twenty persons were injured, three of whom may die.

CONTRADICTS GIRL

Mayor of Houston Gives the Lie Direct to School Teacher.

SHE STICKS TO STORY

The Hearing of Motion For New Trial In Patrick Case Develops a Delicate Situation.

Young Woman's Evidence Connecting Jones and Rice's Nephew Flatly Contradicted.

New York, March 1.—Mayor H. Baldwin Rice of Houston, Tex., was a witness in the hearing on the motion for a new trial for Albert T. Patrick, who is under sentence of death for the murder of William Marsh Rice, the Texas millionaire. The mayor was a nephew of the murdered man. Mayor Rice denied the statements made by Minnie Galliard, one of the witnesses for Patrick's counsel, who had testified that she overheard a conversation between Mayor Rice and Charles F. Jones, Millionaire Rice's former valet, while the mayor and Jones were riding in a trolley car in Houston.

“Did you ever sit in a streetcar with Charles F. Jones?” asked District Attorney Jerome, who had called him as a witness.

“No, sir,” replied the mayor. “I don’t know him.”

“Did you ever slap him on the back and say, ‘You carried out those instructions,’ and asked him how his coffers were?”

“No, sir. The nephew of William M. Rice don’t slap criminals on the back in Houston.”

The mayor said he knew Miss Galliard when she was about fourteen years of age, but he had not seen her in years. She was asked to stand up, and did so.

“Do you know her?” he was asked.

“No, sir, I do not.”

The mayor said to the counsel for Patrick that he did not remember that he met Miss Galliard in the house of L. F. Gillette. The mayor was not mentioned in the Rice will, he said, nor had he contested it, but he received $29,000 as a compromise. His uncle, he said, had given him some land and then left him out of his will because he thought that was enough.

When Mayor Rice was excused Miss Galliard was called. “Do you know Mayor Rice?” asked Mr. Jerome.

“Most certainly I do,” the witness replied, looking straight at the mayor. She repeated that her testimony regarding the conversation in the streetcar at Houston was true.

“When was your teacher’s license revoked?” asked Mr. Jerome.

“Why, it never was revoked,” she answered.

Chief of Police George Ellis of Houston and Nathan B. Fuller, a police officer, testified to the bad character of some of the men who had made the Texas affidavits.

Mr. Olcott, Patrick’s counsel, said that he wished to file five or six new affidavits. He said: “My reliance upon the Texas affidavits has been somewhat unfortunate. I have filed the affidavits of Mr. Isll and Dr. Williams, two highly respectable men, but I could not get them to come north.”

Mr. Jerome objected to the filing of additional affidavits, and Recorder Goff ruled that he would not direct the district attorney to receive the new affidavits at the present time. He would take the matter under advisement.

NO FIAT FOR SHAW

Proposition to Issue Souvenir Coins Flatly Sat Down On.

Washington, March 1.—Secretary Shaw of the treasury department appeared before the house committee on industrial arts and exhibitions to discuss the Maynard bill providing appropriations for the Jamestown Ter-Centennial exposition. He expressed his emphatic disapproval of the provision of the bill for the coinage of 1,000,000 $2 silver pieces upon which the exposition company desires to realize $800,000 profit, or the cost of the seigniorage. He said the means of raising money is deception, that it would be the sowing of dragons’ teeth. He said we have enough different kinds of money and should have no new coins.

“If fiat can be sent out in silver and called profit a greater per cent of fiat can be sent out in paper money,” said Secretary Shaw. “The principle is the same. It is wrong.”

When asked if he could suggest some substitute for the $2 plan to raise funds, Secretary Shaw said he knew of no way but by direct appropriation. Since the exposition officials have invited foreign participation, he said it is unquestionably inevitable that they shall care for visitors. “But it is usually customary to inquire the price of terrapin before inviting dinner guests,” the secretary remarked.

Confessed Second Murder.

Shreveport, La., March 1.—After repeating the Lord’s Prayer with a negro preacher who visited him in his cell, Charles Coleman, the negro condemned to be hanged today for the murder of Margaret Lear, made a confession. He admitted shooting the girl, but denied that he criminally assaulted her. He also admitted having murdered a negro named Heiton at Hynson Springs, Tex., two years ago.

Salvation for the DRUNKARD

The habitual drinker may struggle and strive to overcome the terrible habit of drunkenness, but unless some helping hand is stretched out to succor him he is certain to reach the ultimate end—a physical and mental wreck. If there is someone near and dear to you, who is thus cursed, you can help him. You can restore to him his former self—his ambitions, self-respecting self. The effort is neither difficult or costly.

Springfield (O.) Mob Continues to Terrorize Negroes.

Springfield, Ohio, March 1.—The riot and race war begun here Tuesday night as a result of the shooting of M. M. Davis, a railroad man, by Ladd and Dean, colored, was continued last night, the eight companies of troops called out to assist the local officials in preserving order not being able to prevent the destruction of two houses and the partial demolition of a dozen or more others at the hands of the mob.

No casualties occurred and the riot consisted mainly of marching mobs which either set fire to or stoned the houses of negroes. Hundreds of people were in the streets and the excitement was intense. Officials from Springfield went to Dayton to bring back the two negroes held there for shooting Davis, for identification at the hospital where Davis lies. After they had started they were informed that the negroes would be surely lynched if brought here, and they returned the prisoners to Dayton.

Davis is pronounced to be dying. Acting Prosecuting Attorney Laybourne took the dying statement of Davis, which will be used against the accused when they come to trial. Davis is the son of a Columbus attorney.

A committee of lawyers has been appointed to prosecute the cases against the rioters. A mass meeting has been called by the Commercial club president, N. H. Fairbanks, a brother of Vice President Fairbanks, to devise means to eradicate the causes which have made the rioting possible. The meeting has been called for tonight.

John Bull's Naval Preparedness.

London, March 1.—For the financial year ending April 1 there will have been completed in England three battleships, eight armored cruisers, one second-class cruiser, eight scouts, sixteen torpedo boat destroyers and thirteen submarine boats. On April 1 there will be under construction six battleships, ten armored cruisers, twelve coastal destroyers, five ocean-going destroyers, including one which will be the fastest of its type, one royal yacht and fifteen submarine boats.

Providing the Wherewithal.

Washington, March 1.—Senator Beveridge has reported from the committee on foreign relations a bill appropriating $100,000 for the actual necessary expenses of delegates of the United States and clerks and assistants to the third international conference on American states at Rio de Janeiro in July, 1906.

THE assessor started out today. He may not be a caller that the taxpayer welcomes heartily nevertheless his work is necessary and of large importance. To assess all property equitably is no small task, but that should be the aim and endeavor of every taxing officer. The taxpayer can help to make the work better if he will.

SAM WELLS, of Scottsburg, takes his pen in hand and writes a letter to the democrats of Jackson county, telling them that the nomination of a Jackson county man for prosecutor would be unfair, unjust and mighty bad politics. He is urging Jackson county democrats to lay aside county pride and nominate him because he wants the office.

PURDUE has made an arrangement whereby it hopes to have the taxpayers of the state put up money to sustain a medical college. The State University management follows along and takes a similar action. Now the two state institutions are lining up against each other and a spirit of rivalry exists over the medical school proposition. Neither institution has any crying need of a medical department and to be sure the people are not clamoring for it. They are not asking to be taxed for the support of state institutions that are maintained in the state now, and that too at a high standard, by private capital.

Married.

SHUCK-OGDEN
Miss Minnie Ogden, daughter of G. W. Ogden, a prominent citizen of Dupont, on February 27, became the bride of Mr. H. F. Shuck, a wealthy farmer residing at the same place. The wedding ceremony was performed at the Grand Hotel in Indianapolis by the Rev. M. L. Haines. The happy couple then came to Seymour where they were delightfully entertained by the bride's aunts, Mrs. A. W. Shannon and Mrs. George Heins. They served a 12 o'clock dinner Thursday to the bride and groom and a number of friends and relatives were present at the reception. Mr. and Mrs. Shuck returned to their home at Dupont Thursday afternoon. They have the best wishes of their many friends.

Afflicted With Rheumatism.

"I was and am yet afflicted with rheumatism," says Mr. J. C. Bayne, editor of the Herald, Addington, Indian Territory, "but thanks to Chamberlain's Pain Balm am able once more to attend to business. It is the best of liniments." If troubled with rheumatism give Pain Balm a trial and you are certain to be more than pleased with the prompt relief which it affords. One application relieves the pain. For sale by C. W. Milhous.

Church Nearly Complete.

Excellent progress is being made on the Holiness Christian church and it may be ready in time for services there next Sunday. The progress with the inside work has been more rapid than was anticipated and therefore the congregation may worship there sooner than they had planned. Arrangements are being made to begin revival meetings in the new house of worship within a few days. The new church will be formally dedicated on Sunday March 17, with appropriate services. This new house of worship is a credit to the city and to the congregation building it.

DIED.

VEST—Mrs. Annie Vest died Monday at Nabb from a complication of diseases after being in poor health for several years. She was about 50 years old and leaves a husband, one sister Mrs. Mattie Switzer, of Seymour, two brothers, Robert Perkinson of Seymour, and William Perkinson of Paris Ill.

SCHNEIDER—Just as we go to press the death of George Schneider is reported from Brownstown. His wife died about ten days ago.

The Holy City.

Keep in mind that "The Holy City" will be at the opera house tomorrow night. If the attendance is up to what this superb attraction should have you would have trouble getting reserved seats at the last moment. To be safe you better reserve your seats at your first opportunity.

Gets Day Job.

Tom Casey, who has been the night clerk at the post office, has been promoted to a day job taking the place made vacant by the resignation of George Winkenhof. Carl Switzer, the new man in the office, takes the night job.

Andrew Rust, of near Cortland, was in the city today.

Radishes, celery, green onions at the Model grocery.

Mrs. Chas. Dahlenburg, of Shields, spent the day here with relatives.

S. A. Barnes, who was reported better yesterday morning, was not so well last evening and today.

The funeral of Mrs. Scanlon at 1:30 this afternoon at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Bollinger was attended by a large number of sorrowing friends.

REDDINGTON.

Mrs. John Hazzard is sick.
A little child of Felix Bruner and wife is sick.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Hazellrigg, of Indianapolis, and Ainsley Foster, of Madison, came down to attend the funeral of Mrs. Nancy Gilbert Sunday.

Will Murray, Geo. Baker and C. Welliver delivered cattle to Jonesville Monday.

Miss Eva Sweeney, after several days visit here, went to Cincinnati to complete the millinery trade.

Mitt Hazzard, of Brownstown, visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Hazzard, of this place Friday.

Roy Lucky returned to Indianapolis Monday after several days visit with his parents at this place.

Frank Bunton and little daughter, of Terre Haute, visited his brother, H. G. Bunton, and family Sunday.

Mrs. Mary E. Marsh and Miss Sarah Marsh and Mrs. Lettie Orr and daughter, Marie, of Seymour, were the guests of Jacob Baldwin and family Saturday and Sunday.

Charles Murray made a business trip to Indianapolis Monday.

Clark Davis and wife, of Seymour, were the guests of Dr. C. A. Hunter and wife Sunday.

Several of Homer Davis' schoolmates met at his home Friday night and helped him celebrate his fifteenth birthday. All report an enjoyable time.

Arvie Swengel and Miss Cora Sweeney were married by Rev. Geo. Sweeney at his home Sunday night. We wish them a long and happy life.

Mrs. Nancy Gilbert died at her home Friday night at 8:30 o'clock, aged 55 years. She has been in poor health for many years. She leaves a husband and two daughters, Mrs. Maggie Bunton and Mrs. Grace Shannon. The funeral was preached at the Christian church Sunday afternoon by Elder Thos. Jones. Burial in the Reddington cemetery. Mrs. Gilbert was a member of the Christian church and held in high esteem by all. We extend sympathy to the family.

The Best Safeguard.

The best safeguard against headache, constipation and liver troubles is DeWitt's Little Early Risers. Keep a vial of these famous little pills in the house and take a dose at bed time when you feel that the stomach and bowels need cleaning. They don't gripe. Sold by A. J. Fellens and W. F. Peter Drug Co.

A Merely Local Movement.

Washington, March 1.—Whatever movements the battleship Ohio, flagship of the Asiatic station, may be making now are in accordance with the orders of the commander-in-chief of that station and are not prompted, it is declared here, by any suggestions from the navy department. The department is without official information that the flagship is to go to Hong Kong for repairs, but thinks it probable.

WILL TALK IT OVER

State Committee to Canvass the Eighth District Imbroglio.

Indianapolis, Ind., March 1.—The Republican state committee will meet at the headquarters in the Claypool hotel next Monday or Tuesday afternoon to complete arrangements for the state convention and to consider the wrangle in the Eighth district between the Cromer and Stillwell-McCulloch factions. It was learned today that Stillwell has had his friends lobbying with the members of the state committee for several days in hope of lining them up to his way of thinking before they come to Indianapolis. Congressman Cromer has also been busy among the district chairmen, but a majority have abstained from expressing their views. It would not be surprising under the circumstances if the committee should set aside the portion of the rules fixing the assessment at $3,750 and permitting Stillwell to name the election officers in every precinct. A great deal of feeling is being worked up over the matter and a warm session is expected when the committee meets here. The members, however, have been impressed with the gravity of the situation and will not hesitate in taking whatever action is deemed necessary.

The new home of the Indiana Democratic club, on the second floor of the Western Union building at Meridian street and the Circle, will be dedicated tonight in an auspicious manner. The club hunted for a long time for a home and finally landed at Pennsylvania and Vermont streets in a very comfortable house, but the location was not central enough. The new home is in the center of town and bids fair to become a very popular "hang-out" with the members. It is hoped by the members that the club will eventually be able to own its own building, but in the meantime they will make the most of conditions and enjoy club life in a more modest fashion. At the dedication the Hon. John Worth Kern will deliver the principal address.

The investigation of the books of Secretary of State Storms will be started next Monday by the experts employed by Governor Hanly. Storms still owes the state between $5,000 and $6,000. This includes $2,944.41 interest on money Storms held after regular settlement periods; $900 from the automobile law appropriation and $700 from the foreign incorporations appropriation. There is one item of $1,000 Storms is said to have collected as fees for issuing commissions to justices of peace and others. The committee will make an especial effort to learn the exact amount of fees Storms collected. It is said that his attorneys have advised him that he is entitled to the fees. Storms will vacate his office April 1.

Charles E. Shiveley of South Bend, supreme chancellor of the Knights of Pythias, who was here today, was pressed for an announcement whether or not he will be a candidate for the Republican nomination for attorney general, but he made no definite reply. He has the matter under consideration, however, and will probably make a statement within a few days. Many of the party leaders who are friendly to him are confident that he will stand a splendid chance of winning, even at this late date.

"Baron" Rothschild, former deputy attorney general, today became surveyor of customs for the port of Indianapolis, succeeding A. A. Young, who has held the position since 1898. Rothschild is a well-known and popular young politician and was formerly a law partner of Senator Beveridge, who recommended him for surveyor.

Fred A. Sims of Frankfort and other Ninth district politicians were here last night en route to Tipton, where their congressional convention met today. Congressman C. B. Landis was renominated without opposition. Congressman E. D. Crumpacker of the Tenth district was renominated at Lafayette this afternoon.

F. W. Life of the Normal college at Marion, wrote the Republican state committee today that he will probably be a candidate for state statistician. The other candidates are W. S. Blatchley, who now holds the office, and W. A. McBeth of the Terre Haute Normal school.

Figuring on Adjournment.

Algiers, March 1.—The delegates are discussing the probable duration of the Moroccan conference. The Duke of Almodovar and the other Spanish delegates are due at Madrid on March 13 and should an understanding then appear to be probable, some of the delegates think an adjournment for a fortnight will occur; but in the event that an agreement is considered impossible, others foresee the termination of the conference by that date.

Growth of Postoffice Business.

Washington, March 1.—The subcommittee of the house committee on post offices and postroads, which has been considering appropriations for the postoffice department, has completed a bill fixing the appropriation for the department at about $192,000,000, or $10,000,000 more than the last appropriation. This increase is designed to meet the increase in the business of the department, which averages about 1 per cent annually.

Bedford, Ind., March 1.—There is prospect of a general strike in the stone district. The trouble is being caused by the Bradley Stone company employing non-union cutters, sent here from New York.

It will not cost you a cent to try Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets, and they are excellent for stomach troubles and constipation. Get a free sample at C. W. Milhous drug store.

The Food Value of a Soda Cracker

You have heard that some foods furnish fat, other foods make muscle, and still others are tissue building and heat forming.

You know that most foods have one or more of these elements, but do you know that no food contains them all in such properly balanced proportions as a good soda cracker?

The United States Government report shows that soda crackers contain less water, are richer in the muscle and fat elements, and have a much higher per cent of the tissue building and heat forming properties than any article of food made from flour.

That is why Uneeda Biscuit should form an important part of every meal. They represent the superlative of the soda cracker, all their goodness and nourishment being brought from the oven to you in a package that is proof against air, moisture and dust—the price being too small to mention.

Always Keeps Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in His House.

"We would not be without Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It is kept on hand continually in our home," says W. W. Kearney, editor of the Independent, Lowry City, Mo. That is just what every family should do. When kept at hand ready for instant use, a cold may be checked at the outset and cured in much less time than after it has become settled in the system. This remedy is also without a peer for croup in children, and will prevent the attack when given as soon as the child becomes hoarse, or even after the croupy cough appears, which can only be done when the remedy is kept at hand. For sale by C. W. Milhous.

NEW DRIFTWOOD.

The petitioners are out getting signs for a Centralized school in the neighborhood.

Lucien Kemp has sold his farm to A. DeGolyer and contemplates going to Terre Haute.

Miss Fio E. Beldon pleasantly entertained a number of her pupils Sunday afternoon in honor of Misses Lucia and Laura and Master Clifford Kemp, who leave for their home at Terre Haute this week. The afternoon was spent with music and games and Miss Flo proved herself an excellent hostess for the little folks.

Mr. and Mrs. William Wischmeier, sr., of this place, are perhaps the oldest settlers in the county. Mr. Wischmeier was born in Bremen, Germany, in the year 1806, and his wife was born near the same place in 1814. They were married Dec. 11, 1835 and to them were born six children, four of whom survive, together with thirty-three grandchildren and fifteen great-grandchildren. The came to America in March, 1854, and stayed in Cincinnati until August of the same year when they removed here to their present homestead. Mr. Wischmeier is almost helpless being almost deprived of sight. His wife was very active for a woman of her years until about four years ago, when she fell breaking her left limb. Refusing to have it set she has been helpless since that time. Although she has seen the many changes in her 92 years of useful life she has never worn glasses and can see almost as good as any youth.

Drop by Drop the offensive discharge caused by Nasal Catarrh falls from the back of the nose into the throat, setting up an inflammation that is likely to mean Chronic Bronchitis. SUES FOR $40,000.

Big Damage Suit that Comes From Lawrence County.

Mary L. Dalton, et al, vs. Fredric D. Dalton, damages is one of the new cases filed in circuit court. This case was filed in Lawrence county five years ago. It was venue from there to Orange county and now to Jackson county.

The plaintiffs are the heirs of Lycurgus Dalton, who died March 1895. They charge that before his death, on account of ill health, he placed in trust of the defendant 325 shares of stock in the Peerless Stone Company, of the value of $30,000. They allege that the defendant in order to reorganize the company and secure the control of the above stock, with fraudulent intent to cheat and defraud the said Lycurgus Dalton and his heirs, immediately upon the acceptance of above trust, commenced a systematic and successful effort to depreciate and shrink the value of said stock, by paying out large salaries to himself and others, caused the quarry to be shut down and cease business and finally reorganized the company and purchased the quarry machinery, etc., in his own name for the nominal sum of $9000, thus causing the above mentioned 325 shares of Lycurgus Dalton to become worthless. The plaintiffs demand $40,000.—Brownstown Banner.

Excellent Sermon.

Rev. A. B. Conrad preached an excellent sermon last night at the First Baptist church, of Franklin, from the words, "Lo, I am with you always, even unto the end of the world." His theme was the constant presence of the Lord Jesus with his disciples. His omnipresence is one of the evidences of his divinity. His continual presence is essential to man's spiritual life as the sun to the existence of everything in the material world. He is the only life-giving source in the world. To live the christian life means simply to be partakers of the life of the Son of God. A Christless life is an awful thing, but how much worse a Christless death.—Franklin Star.

President is Trying to Prevent a Strike.

Roosevelt succeeded in settling the last great struggle between the coal miners and coal mine owners, but whether or not he will succeed in preventing the strike that is scheduled to commence April 1, remains to be seen.

If a strike once begins those who have to use coal for fuel are the ones who will suffer most.

Do not run the risk of being caught without enough coal to last you until next fall at least, for if you are you will have to pay higher prices than you have to now.

Bronchitis

Is more than a cough; it is a deep-seated inflammation or catarrh of the bronchial tubes and lungs—allied to asthma and the most fruitful source of consumption. It baffles all schools of medicine, and cough cures, loaded with narcotics are worthless and harmful, because no remedy taken internally only, ever did or can cure. BRAZILIAN BALM, the germicide balm, alone has triumphed in every case for 20 years.

Take 15 drops every 2 hours and BE SURE to bathe the throat and chest with hot, clear Balm every night. That is the secret. It penetrates, reduces the inflammation, kills the germs, stops the coughing and raising of phlegm, restoring the lungs to the vigor of youth. Get the 50c or $1.00 bottle, keep up the treatment faithfully for a few weeks and we guarantee a cure clear down to the last stage of quick consumption. No cocaine or opiates.

CORTLAND.

The teachers of Hamilton township will meet here in institute next Saturday. The public is invited.

James Dixon has moved into town and occupies Mr. Beatty's property.

Miss Lena Abel has returned home from Seymour. She will attend the Normal here this spring.

The prospects of a successful Normal here this spring are flattering. The instructor, Prof. C. G. Shorridge, is one of Jackson county's most popular teachers. His training in a Normal school supplemented by twenty years' experience in the school room, certainly enables him to do the professional training demanded by the county board. We have the assurance from the county superintendent that his work will be recognized. Many of his former pupils are successful teachers. We are sure that all prospective teachers or others desiring a thorough review will do well to attend. Boarding may be had at reasonable prices. The tuition for the teachers class will be $6, and for 8th grade $5, for term of ten weeks. The patrons pay only for time in actual attendance.

J. E. Hunsucker is preparing to move to Sullivan county. Ed Hayes of Honeytown will occupy the place from which he moves.

Misses Carla and Marie Beatty are convalescing from an attack of scarlet fever.

School will close here in two weeks. Walter Beck and Frank Bottorff accompanied the Seymour team of Modern Woodmen to Indianapolis last Thursday evening. They report a grand time.

Jason Bottorff, trustee has moved into the house vacated by W. I. Brockner.

EAST GRASSY.

Evangelist Hunter failed to fill his appointment at Mt. Pleasant Saturday and Sunday.

Lee Kelley moved to George Bergers farm near Crothersville Wednesday which he has rented for the season.

George McKnight and John Wing transacted business at Brownstown Thursday.

George and Matt Reynolds have been buying some fine oak and poplar timber in Washington county, which will be delivered to the band saw mill at Crothersville.

Wm. M. Isaacs, of Honeytown, was in our midst one day last week.

All persons interested in the Mt. Pleasant Baptist church are cordially invited to attend a business meeting to be held in the church on March 3 to determine whether or not the church shall put up a new building and to attend to other church business.

Miss Goldie Johnson of near Mt. Vernon visited in East Grassy Sunday.

Fred Holle has just completed a new well.

REETOWN.

Willard Williams, of Bedford, visited his sister, Mrs. A. J. Stevens Sunday.

Emil Cross remains about the same. Findley George, of Waymaville visited relatives here Saturday.

J. H. Davis visited relatives at Vallonia last week.

Mrs. Frank Manuel and daughter, Josie, are here from Westport.

Robert Hunsucker, who is employed at Columbus, visited here Sunday. Mrs. Hunsucker and daughter returned with him.

Mrs. Frank Wheeler visited her sister, Mrs. Jennie Motsinger, at Jasonville, Sunday.

Mrs. Myrtle Rucker and daughter, of Seymour, visited Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Denny Sunday.

Several from here attended church at Surprise last week.

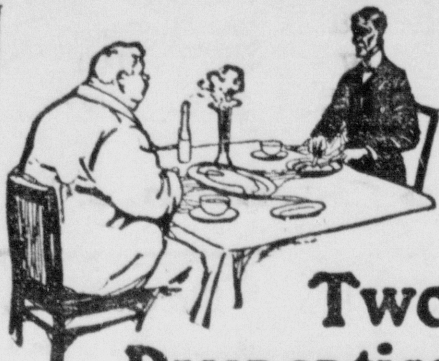

Miss Leona Denny of Seymour, visited her parents Sunday.

S. Z. Cross has sold his farm to J. L. Frazier, of Fountain county. Mr. Cross expects to move to town in the near future.

A Favorite Remedy For Babies.

Its pleasant taste and prompt cures have made Chamberlain's Cough Remedy a favorite with the mothers of small children. It quickly cures their coughs and colds and prevents any danger of pneumonia or other serious consequences. It not only cures croup, but when given as soon as the croupy cough appears will prevent the attack. For sale by C. W. Milhous.

Two Dyspeptics

If you are too fat it is because your food turns to fat instead of muscle—strength. If you are too lean the fat-producing foods that you eat are not properly digested and assimilated.

Lean, thin, stringy people do not have enough Pepsin in the stomach, while fat people have too much Pepsin and not enough Pancreatine.

Kodol

contains all the digestive juices that are found in a healthy stomach, and in exactly those proportions necessary to enable the stomach and digestive organs to digest and assimilate all foods that may be eaten. Kodol is not only a perfect digestant, but it is a reconstructive, tissue building tonic as well. Kodol cures Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Sour Stomach, Heartburn, Palpitation of the Heart and Constipation. You will like it.

Digests What You Eat

Rests the stomach, rebuilds the tissues and gives firm flesh.

HAYDEN.

Perry Mills is moving to the farm he recently bought of Mrs. Ellen Smith two and a half miles west of here.

Prof. Bradshaw was called to his home west of Indianapolis on account of the serious illness of his sister.

Henry Mote, age 53 years, died Feb. 21 after a long sickness of cancer of the stomach.

David M. Fox, aged 54 years, died Feb. 25 of consumption.

George Dodd and wife of Paris Crossing, were here to attend the funeral of David M. Fox.

John Morrison will move to his farm next week and Mrs. Mote will return to her home here.

Mrs. Caroline Justis, who has been sick with rheumatism, is very much improved.

A Mr. Hiney, of Randolph county, bought Mrs. Ruoyon's property just west of here and moved Saturday.

Mr. McLane, who lives on the Opp farm, will move his family to Indianapolis soon.

Hiram Spencer, who has been visiting relatives here for the past month, returned to Arkansas last Friday.

Harry Whitcomb went to North Vernon Saturday to stay over Sunday with his brother, Will Whitcomb.

Dr. Geo. P. Bible, of Philadelphia, gave the last number of the lecture course Thursday evening, March 1.

Howard Mote and wife and Sister May returned to their homes at Indianapolis and Rushville this week.

SETTLED AT LAST

Newcastle Will Get the Indiana Village For Epileptics.

IT IS ALL FIXED UP

Site of Something Over a Thousand Acres Mile and a Half From Newcastle Selected by Commission.

Is It Simply a Coincidence That the Land Adjoins the Farm of the Famous "Jim" Nipp?

Indianapolis, March 1.—One of the longest and hardest fights for a state institution has ended. The three commissioners appointed by Governor Hanly have decided to locate the new Indiana village for epileptics at Newcastle. Tentative selection of 1,060.8 acres of land was made, to be modified slightly as necessity shall arise. The price to be paid is $100 an acre, so that in all something in excess of $100,000 will be spent for the site of the institution.

Representatives of Newcastle came down to Indianapolis yesterday afternoon and assured the governor and the members of the commission that the conditions named will be met. These conditions include possession by April 1, 1906; turning over the deeds, abstract of title, etc., by March 3, and that written guarantee shall be given from a railroad company that it will construct not less than 1,500 feet of sidetrack to such a point as may be selected by the board of trustees. As the law creating the commission provided that the purchase should be made by March 6, 1906, the actual choice of a site was postponed almost as long as possible. This explains the necessity for turning over the deeds and abstracts by March 3.

The site selected is about a mile and a half north and a little east of Newcastle. It is a beautiful site, having good ridge land for dwellings, about 100 acres of forest, 300 acres of pasture land and about 700 acres of tillable bottom land. Good drainage facilities are afforded. The land is now owned by J. C. and C. T. Huddleston, L. W. and James Harvey and Willis Griffin. The land adjoins the farm of the famous "Jim" Nipp, where politicians are wont to gather and plot in the darkness of the night. Three railroads—the L. E. & W., the Big Four and the Pan-Handle—pass near the site, and immediately south is a "Y" connection for the three roads.

ANONYMOUS LETTERS

May Yet Disclose Identity of Emporia Assassin.

Anderson, Ind., March 1.—Charles Hankins, recently employed at Markleville, and now living with his mother near Emporia, is annoyed with anonymous letters of the kind that Walter Ellison, an Emporia merchant, received shortly before he was shot and seriously wounded by an unknown assassin. Prosecutor Vestal has obtained considerable evidence in regard to the Hankins letter, and it will be included in an investigation before the Madison county grand jury concerning the shooting of Mr. Ellison, and also the burning of George Lewis's building, including a stock of merchandise owned by Nathan Veach, at Markleville, recently.

May Unravel Mystery.

Bedford, Ind., March 1.—The grand jury investigating the Schafer murder mystery is now actively engaged. Several witnesses have been examined, and from the secrecy that is being maintained by both Prosecutor Fletcher and his assistant, John Underwood, it is believed they will make good their assertions that they have testimony in their possession that may unravel the mystery of the tragic death of Miss Schafer. The testimony that is being accumulated by Underwood, who has charge of the investigation, is known only to Prosecutor Fletcher, and these two officials are maintaining the most rigid secrecy. This determination to keep their own counsel is winning the confidence of the people, who have begun to believe the Schafer mystery may be solved.

Children Were Left Alone.

Terre Haute, Ind., March 1.—Beatrice Osborne, five years old, and Lizzie Osborne, seven, are dead as a result of an explosion of gasoline at their home in Burnett. The little ones were left alone in the house and the cause of the explosion is not known, but it is supposed that they poured the gasoline into a stove.

Continued for the Term.

Wabash, Ind., March 1.—The trial of Daniel Krisher, president, and Dayton C. Harter, cashier, of the defunct Bank of North Manchester, accused of receiving deposits, knowing the bank was insolvent, has been continued till the April term of court.

Will Meet the Miners.

Pittsburg, March 1.—The coal operators from Indiana, Ohio, Illinois and western Pennsylvania, called here by F. L. Robbins, chairman of the Pittsburgh Coal company, decided to issue a call for a general conference to be held in Indianapolis, March 19. At the same time the second convention of the United Mine Workers will be in session.
